

HARRIS PUBLIC RELATIONS

Cultivating & Maintaining Relationships

Media Contact: Yvette N. Harris
786.897.8854

2010 Miami Carnival Parade of Bands and Masqueraders Adorns Miami Gardens and Sun Life Stadium with Colorful Costumes, Infectious Sounds of the Caribbean and Culinary Tastes of the Caribbean

Generation X Earns “Band of the Year” Bragging Rights and “New Generation” as Best Playing Steel band

786.897.8854 | 479 NE 30th Street, Miami, Fl 33137
Yvette@harrispublicrelations.com

HARRIS PUBLIC RELATIONS

Cultivating & Maintaining Relationships

Miami, FL -October 2010-The 2010 Miami Carnival Parade of Bands and Festival brought excitement and revived the Spirit of Unity in Diversity for the South Florida area. The Miami Broward Carnival committee launched this year's Carnival in their new home in Miami Gardens and Sun Life Stadium. Leading the parade was Miami Gardens, Mayor Shirley Gibson, Miami Dade Commissioner-District 2, Oliver Gilbert-Miami Gardens Councilman, Commissioner Dale Holness- Lauderhill, Jennifer Carroll, State Representative-Jacksonville, Florida, and "Soca King", Machel Montano.

Thousands on the parade route displayed their national pride and shared their culture and heritage through a spectacular show of color and pageantry with their brilliantly crafted costumes. Truly a joyful expression of the Caribbean ethnic heritage, the Miami Carnival attracted over 15,000 Carnival Revelers to the Miami Gardens area. Generation X won the coveted "Band of the Year" title, and Jenny Auxilly, from Fun Generation earning the "Queen of Carnival" title and Verginio Vergin named "King of Carnival" from Ti Chapo. One of the highlights of the day was hip hop artist Pitbull presenting Machel Montano with the Miami Carnival Cultural Award for his contributions to soca and Carnival.

Media Note:

Results of this year's Miami Carnival are attached. For photos please contact: Yvette N. Harris at 786.897.8854 or yvette@harrispublicrelations.com.

###